

Local Education Adult Resource Network
A non-profit educational consortium working to meet the needs of employers and non-traditional adult students

The Haysville Community Library Hosts LEARN Education Fair Thursday, February 18, 2010 1:30 - 7:30pm

- ☉ This event is FREE and OPEN to adult learners who have been thinking about returning to college, to parents who want more info about local colleges for their college-bound kids, and to young professionals seeking the best possible educational path to enhance their careers! Representatives will be on hand with information about financial aid, current class schedules, degree choices, personal enrichment classes, and much more!
- ☉ LEARN-Wichita is a non-profit educational organization comprised of colleges, universities and trade/technical schools located in Wichita that work together to provide a rich diversity of educational opportunities for adults and employers. They offer certification programs, associates, bachelors, masters and doctorate degrees. Part-time, full-time, accelerated, classroom-based, online, and distance-learning educational formats are available.
- ☉ Haysville Community Library, 210 S. Hays, a tax-supported community resource, provides informational, educational and recreational services, materials and programs to users of all ages, and is the enthusiastic host for this educational event!

“Our goal is to help you make more money, get the job you really want, or get promoted --- and education is a powerful tool in achieving that goal!”

Adrienne Churchill, Webster University, Secy/Treas, LEARN.
