Weckworth Langdon Ribbon Cutting & Open House

Haysville, KS – Weckworth Langdon is celebrating their recent move to Haysville with a ribbon cutting and open house to be held November 12, 2009. Weckworth Landon President Brandon Hoffmann, Mayor Ken Hampton, Sedgwick County Commissioner Tim Norton, and Chamber of Commerce President Forrest Hummel will be present to cut the ribbon promptly at 4:30 p.m. The ribbon cutting will be followed by an open house, catering, and tours until 6:00 p.m. The celebration is open to the public. Parking will be available along Baughman, at the new library, and near the Hometown Market in the Historic District. For more information about the event please contact Planning/Community Relations Coordinator Jeana Morgan for the City of Haysville, at 529-5900.

Weckworth Langdon began working at their new location at 117 Baughman approximately two weeks ago. They currently employ 260 people and will begin to hire additional employees in the near future. A large portion of their business comes from government and military contracts, making products such as: cleric and medical supply bags for the military; chainsaw covers; fire blankets.
