Haysville Flag Design Kept Under Wraps

Haysville, KS (October 11, 2017) The deadline for submissions in the City of Haysville's flag design contest was Friday, September 29th at 5:00 p.m. When all was said and done, the City received more than 115 entries from 38 artists. Entrants were as young as nine years old and from as far away as College Station, Texas. A committee of Haysville city staff reviewed the entries and chose the winning design on Monday, October 2nd.

The new flag won't be revealed, however, until October 21st, during the 33rd Annual Haysville Fall Festival. "This is a momentous occasion for Haysville," Mayor Bruce Armstrong said. "There isn't a better platform for a big debut than during the Fall Festival." The artist responsible for the design will be recognized publicly at the Riggs Park Band Shell on Saturday the 21st at approximately 6:15 p.m.

"We (the Fall Festival Committee) are excited about the flag unveiling happening during the festival," said this year's festival committee president, Janet Parton. "We work very closely with the City to put it on every year, so the reveal is a great addition to our programming."

Residents eager to show their "Haysville Pride" can visit the City of Haysville's Fall Fest booth, where flag related merchandise will be available to purchase. "We've started with just a few things for now," explained Haysville's Economic Development Director Zach McHatton. "But we will definitely be looking to add more Haysville gear in the future."
